Introduction

This authoritative income tax guide has proven invaluable for families and individuals concerned about tax deductions and credits related to the care and support of a child or an adult with an intellectual or developmental disability. After forty-nine issues, this booklet has become an annual “must-have” for the informed parent. Some of the figures contained within this guide are calculations by CCH, Inc., based on its Consumer Price Index estimates due to official IRS tables not being released in time for either publication.

Thomas F. Kendziorski, B.A., J.D., Retired Attorney at Law and a Retired Executive Director, The Arc of Oakland County, Troy, Michigan authored this revision of the 2023 edition of The Arc Michigan’s annual Income Tax Guide. Mr. Kendziorski currently serves as a member of the board of directors for The Arc Michigan.

Special acknowledgments for the technical editing of this booklet, good counsel and professional tax advice go to: Matthew Partyka, C.P.A., and Philip Partyka, Associate, of Partyka and Company, P.C., Warren, Michigan (586-751-7100).

Highlights of Tax Changes for Tax Year 2022

In the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic, our family finances have taken some serious hits. All levels of government have had to wrestle with making difficult economic decisions. And, most certainly, contentious state and federal legislative debate involving taxes and operating budgets continues to dominate the news and social media.

After national and state-wide emergencies were declared in March 2020, federal legislation such as the “Families First Coronavirus Response Act” provided some initial tax assistance. The follow-on “Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act” and the early January 2021 “Consolidated Appropriations Act” offered additional tax relief and incentives for individuals and businesses alike. In March of 2021, President Biden signed into law the “American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (“ARPA”), which extended unemployment benefits, funded vaccination and testing programs, aid to state and local governments as well as school districts, a wide array of tax relief including: a third round of stimulus payments, expansions of the child tax credit, the earned income tax credit, the child and dependent care credit, a temporary exclusion from income of unemployment income and forgiven student loan balances, the extension of popular employment credits, and so much more. (§1 – 2022 and 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

The “Inflation Reduction Act of 2022” featured a myriad of short and long-term tax and spending elements. Among them, it extended through 2025 the Affordable Care Act health insurance premium reductions that were written into the ARPA; otherwise, these reductions would have expired at the end of 2022. (§1 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) Finally, the federal fiscal year 2023 budget bill, passed and signed into law in late December 2022, also known as the “Secure 2.0 Act of 2022,” affected a number of important tax-related considerations (e.g., an Individual Retirement Account’s (IRA) “Required Minimum Distribution” age).

The election year of 2022 proved extremely interesting. But what are the answers? For starters, always keep the lines of communication open with your elected officials about the needs of those with intellectual impairment and other related developmental disabilities. Next, increase your volunteer and charitable financial support for the advocacy efforts of your local, state and national chapters of The Arc. Finally, maintain a positive attitude about the future.

This tax guide is for members of The Arc. It updates a multitude of the usual numbers and dollar amounts that have been changed due to automatic increases in statutory cost-of-living adjustments, or new legislative mandates. It is NOT intended to cover every circumstance, and The Arc is NOT engaged in providing legal, accounting or other related professional services.

The topics and information are meant to provide a “heads up” for taxpayers as we sit down during 2023 to figure our 2022 income taxes. Professional tax advice is always the key to detailed information. The highlights described below are important to every taxpayer. Read and discuss each carefully with your tax advisor to determine how it all relates to your specific tax situation. Once again, this listing is NOT intended to be all-inclusive.

★ Individual Tax Rates – The tax brackets for tax year 2022 are set at: 10%, 12%, 22%, 24%, 32%, 35%, and 37%. During 2022, the 10% tax bracket, for married couples filing jointly, has the first $20,550 of taxable income subject to this rate ($10,275 for single persons). For married couples filing jointly, taxable income over $20,550 and up to $83,550 is subject to the 12% rate (over $10,275 and up to $41,775 for single persons). Likewise, income over $83,550 and up to $178,150 (over $41,775 and up to $89,075 for single persons) is taxed at the 22% rate. Income over $178,150 for married filing jointly ($89,075 for single persons) and up to $340,100 ($170,050 for single persons) is taxed at the 24% rate. Income over $340,100 for married filing jointly ($170,050 for single persons) and up to $431,900 ($215,950 for single persons) is taxed at the 32% rate. Income over $431,900 for married filing jointly ($215,950 for single persons) but up to $647,850 ($539,900 for single persons) is taxed at the 35% rate. Finally, all income over $647,850 (married filing jointly) or $539,900 (single persons) is taxed at the 37% rate. (§11 and §13 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Personal Exemptions (FEDERAL) – The exemption amount is zero (“... zilch, zippo, nada, nothing ...”) for tax years beginning in 2018 through 2025. No deduction may be claimed for personal and dependency exemptions during these years, but the rules for determining who is a dependent of the taxpayer are applicable for claiming other tax benefits (e.g., Child Tax Credit). When determining who is a dependent for these tax benefits, the exemption amount is $4,400 for 2022 ($4,700 for 2023) and is adjusted for inflation in future years (IRS Notice 2018-70).

For tax years beginning before 2018 and after 2025, a taxpayer whose adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds an applicable threshold amount based on filing status must reduce the amount of his or her otherwise allowable exemption deduction. The applicable threshold amounts are also subject to an annual adjustment for inflation. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2018; [IRC §151(d)(3)]; and, (§§133 and 137 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Personal Exemptions (MICHIGAN) – The Michigan legislature enacted changes to its tax laws during 2018 to continue this state’s personal and dependent exemptions in response to the temporary repeal of the federal exemptions made by the TCJA for years 2018 through 2025. Michigan previously tied its personal and dependent exemptions to the number of exemptions allowed on a taxpayer’s federal return. (See: §2 – 2020 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

A long-established provision in Michigan tax law states that a parent of a dependent minor or adult child with a severe intellectual and/or physical disability may claim an additional “Totally and Permanently Disabled” exemption. The definition for what constitutes a disability is that used by the Social Security Administration (42 U.S.C. 416) for the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) programs.

★ Earned Income Tax Credit (MICHIGAN) - there is a refundable Michigan Earned Income Tax Credit equaling 6% of the federal credit available for tax year 2022. You must file a Michigan income tax return to receive this credit (See: Line 27, 2021 MI 1040).

★ Social Security and Medicare Tax - The wage base for the SOCIAL SECURITY portion of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) is set at $147,000 for 2022 ($160,200 for 2023). The tax rate for employees was 6.2% for 2022, while the employer’s portion was also at 6.2%.

All 2022 wages and salaries are subject to the MEDICARE portion of the FICA. The first $250,000 of earned income (married filing jointly) and $200,000 (single persons) are taxed at a 1.45% rate (employees), 1.45% rate (employers), or a 2.9% rate (self-employed). The rate increases by 0.9% to 2.35% for wages and 3.8% for self-employment income in excess of $250,000 (married filing jointly) and $200,000 (single persons). These thresholds are based on the combined wages for joint returns.

Thus, the tax rates for the self-employed during 2022 was 15.3% on taxable earnings up to $147,000, plus 2.9% on $147,001 to $250,000 ($200,000 single), plus 3.8% on earnings in excess of $250,000 ($200,000 single), with no limit. Self-employed workers may deduct one-half (50%) of the Social Security tax as an adjustment to gross income. (§§47, 49 and 923 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

The standard Medicare “Part B” monthly premium [i.e., single persons with annual modified adjusted gross incomes below $91,000 ($97,000 for 2023) and married filing jointly below $182,000 ($194,000 for 2023)] for 2022 was $170.10, and for 2023 it is reduced to $164.90. Some longer-term enrollees may pay less each month due to special “hold harmless” premium calculations. Persons with higher incomes pay a significantly higher monthly Part B premium.

Most persons with Medicaid coverage in Michigan do not pay a Medicare Part B premium; this also applies to individuals who had to forego their Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits because they exclusively receive Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) as a “Disabled Adult Child” (a.k.a., “D.A.C.”) based on a parent’s Social Security Administration work record. If the State of Michigan already pays the Medicare Part B premium due to your Medicaid eligibility, it must now pay, for all recipients, the 2023 rate of $164.90.

★ Standard Deductions – Adjusted annually for inflation, the flat standard deduction for non-itemizing taxpayers during 2022 is $25,900 for joint filers, $19,400 for heads of households, and $12,950 for both single persons and married filing separately.

An extra standard deduction of $1,400 in 2022 exists for each married person age 65 and over, and each blind taxpayer. This extra deduction is $1,750 for 2022 if the blind or elderly person is single or head of household. Two additional amounts will be allowed to an individual who is both over 65 and blind. Each is in addition to the full standard deduction. (§131 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

A taxpayer who can be claimed as a dependent on another taxpayer’s return during 2022 can use the greater of $1,150 or the sum of $400 and the single individual’s earned income up to the applicable standard deduction amount ($12,950 in 2022) of his/her standard deduction to off-set unearned income. The next $1,150 is taxed at the individual’s own tax rate, unless the following election is made [IRC §63(c)(5)] (§131 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide):

To avoid the so-called “kiddie tax,” parents may elect to include on their return the unearned income of a child under age 18 whose income is more than $1,150 but less than $11,500 in 2022, which consists solely of interest and dividends. The child is treated as having no gross income and does not have to file a tax return if the election is made for the tax year. This election is not available if estimated tax payments have been made in the child’s name and taxpayer identification number for the tax year. Use IRS Form 8814 for this election and report the child’s interest and dividends on a parent’s return. (§§101 and 115 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

The “kiddie tax” applies to a child who is required to file a tax return (use IRS Form 8615), does not file a joint return, has at least one living parent, has more than $2,300 of unearned income, and is in one of the following categories:

- Under age 18 at the end of 2022 tax year;
- Age 18 and did not have earned income that was more than half of his or her support; or,
- At least age 19 and under age 24 at the end of the 2022 tax year and did not acquire earned income that was more than half of his or her support.

For tax years 2018 through 2025, the child’s net unearned income is taxed at the same rates as trusts and estates, unless an election is made to use the child’s parent’s tax rate if it would result in a higher tax liability. (§115 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Miscellaneous Itemized Deductions Subject to 2% AGI Limit Repealed - All but a few of the former “Miscellaneous Itemized Deductions” may be claimed during tax years 2018 through 2025. The following deductions remain not subject to the 2% of Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) limitation: medical and dental expenses, local-state-foreign taxes, home mortgage interest, investment interest, charitable contributions, casualty and theft losses, and certain other miscellaneous expenses (e.g., impairment-related work expenses) (See: Page 27). (§§ 1014, 1079, and 1095 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Social Security Number for Children - Minors claimed as dependents must have a Social Security number. (§109 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Return for Persons with a Disability - A guardian for a minor or a legally disabled person is required to file a Form 1040 as an agent for such person if the individual would be required to file a return. However, a minor may file a return for him/herself or have someone else do so to relieve the guardian of this obligation. An agent making the return for another should file Form 2848 (“Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative”) with the taxpayer’s return. BEWARE: both the agent and the taxpayer for whom the return is made may be liable for penalties. (§504 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Child Tax Credit (“CTC”) - Taxpayers of qualifying children (i.e., child, descendant, step-child, or an eligible foster child who is a U.S. citizen and who the taxpayer supports during the tax year and may be claimed as a dependent, and who is under age 17 at the close of the tax year) are entitled to a “Child Tax Credit.” For tax year 2022, the credit amount is $2,000 per qualifying child, again, under the age of 17. The CTC is further modified to provide for a $500 non-refundable credit for qualifying dependents other than qualifying children. (§1405 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

In 2005, the CTC adopted the uniform definition of a qualifying child under IRC §152, as amended by the Working Families Tax Relief Act of 2004 (See also: §137A – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide). Although the relationship requirements remain the same, a taxpayer no longer must prove that they supplied over one-half the support but rather that the child did not provide more than one-half of his or her own support. The same is true for the residence requirement. A qualifying child need only have the same principal place of abode as the taxpayer for more than six months in the year. This same definitional language also applies to the Earned Income Credit (See: Page 10), and the Child and Disabled Dependent Care Credit (See: Page 24).

This credit begins to phase out, for tax years beginning with 2018 through 2025, when the modified adjusted gross income reaches $400,000 for joint filers, $200,000 for all other filers.

If a taxpayer has three or more qualifying children, the threshold is the excess of the taxpayer’s share of Social Security taxes, over earned income for the year. This credit is generally a non-refundable personal credit. (§1405 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide).

★ Volunteer Mileage - The charitable deduction for individuals using their passenger cars in volunteer work for qualified charities is at 14¢ per mile (for 2022 and 2023) plus parking fees and tolls, instead of actual expenses. This rate is not indexed for inflation, it is set by statute. (IR-2022-234) (§1061 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Medical Deductions – Medical expenses, which includes medical insurance premiums, are subject to a 7.5% (made permanent with the January 2021 “Consolidated Appropriations Act”) of “adjusted gross income” (AGI) medical expense deduction floor for 2022; this applies to all taxpayers. On joint returns, the percentage limitation is based on the total AGI of both spouses. (§1015 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Tax Rates for Non-Grantor Trusts & Estates - (§19 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide):

| 2022 Taxable Income | Rate |
|----------------------------|-------------|
| 0 - 2,750 | 10% |
| 2,750 - 9,850 | 24% |
| 9,850 - 13,450 | 35% |
| 13,450 - over | 37% |

★ Estate Tax Chart - (§§40, 41, 2901 and 2942 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

| Year | Top Estate Tax Rate | Exemption Amount |
|-------------|----------------------------|-------------------------|
| 2019 | 40% | $11,400,000 |
| 2020 | 40% | $11,580,000 |
| 2021 | 40% | $11,700,000 |
| 2022 | 40% | $12,060,000 |
| 2023 | 40% | $12,920,000 |

The estate tax rate and the “Generation-Skipping Transfer” (GST) tax exemption exclusions are annually indexed for inflation. The chart above applies to the estate of a decedent dying and gifts made after December 31, 2017 but before January 2026. For married couples during 2022, the exclusion is $24,120,000 upon the death of the first spouse.

★ Earned Income Credit (“EIC”) – The EIC is a refundable credit available to certain low-income individuals who have earned income, meet the adjusted gross income thresholds, and do not have investment income above a certain amount. Taxpayers claiming the EIC must provide a Social Security number and that of their spouse. Failure to do so is considered a mathematical error. The “Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act of 2015” made permanent certain enhancements to the EIC developed in the past, most recently by the “American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012.” (See: Wolters Kluwer/CCHGroup “Tax Briefing” dated 12/18/15)

Different credit percentages and phaseout percentages are provided for low-income individuals who have no qualifying children (See: CTC, Page 9, for definitional language), one qualifying child, and more than one qualifying child. An individual who is a qualifying child may not also claim such a credit in the same tax year.

An individual who does not have a qualifying child may be eligible for this credit if: (1) the principal residence of such individual is in the United States for more than one-half of the tax year; (2) the individual (or the spouse of the individual) is at least age 25 and under age 65 before the close of the tax year; and (3) the individual is not claimed as a dependent by another.

Married persons must file a joint return to claim this credit. A married person living apart from a spouse under certain circumstances need not file a joint return to claim the credit. Except in the case of death, the credit may be claimed only for the full 12-month tax year.

For 2022, the maximum credit is as follows: one qualifying child - $3,733; two - $6,164; three or more is $6,935; with no qualifying children, $560 is the maximum credit. (See: Rev. Proc. 2021- 45).

The EIC is reduced by a limitation amount determined by multiplying the applicable phase-out percentage by the excess of the amount of the individual’s adjusted gross income (or earned income, if greater) over the phaseout amount. The earned income amount and the phaseout amount are adjusted yearly for inflation.

Taxpayers should complete Schedule EIC with Form 1040 to determine whether they are eligible for the credit. A taxpayer claiming the EIC must include their taxpayer identification number and that of their spouse (if married) and any qualifying children on their income tax return. (§1422 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Adult Home Help Services - Adult Home Help Services (AHHS) is not taxable as income to parents, and others, who are live-in care providers. That being said, all caregivers receiving AHHS payments must account for them on their tax return. (Details on pages 22 – 24)

★ Standard Business Mileage Deduction - The amount is 58.5¢ from 1/1/2022 through 6/30/2022 [IR Notice 2021-251], and 62.5¢ from 7/1/2022 through 12/31/2022 [IR Announcement 2022-13]. Beginning on 1/1/2023 the amount is 65.5¢ [IR-2022-234]. (§947 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Business Expenses – Entertainment expenses are generally not deductible as trade or business expenses including those for a facility used in connection with entertainment. However, certain entertainment expenses are not subject to these limits. For example, if food and beverages are provided at an entertainment activity, the meal expenses may still be deductible so long as they are purchased separately (Notice 2018-76). The January 2021 “Consolidated Appropriations Act” temporarily removed the 50% limit on deductions for business meals and expenses. Such expenses must be for food and/or beverages provided by a restaurant and must be paid after December 31, 2020 but before January 1, 2023 to qualify for the 100% deduction. (See: §§910, 914 and 916 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide; and, IR Notice 2021-25).

Meal expenditures incurred separately from any entertainment activity remain 50% deductible if they are an ordinary and necessary expense incurred in carrying on a trade or business. The meal must directly precede or follow a substantial and bona fide business discussion, including a business meeting at a convention. The taxpayer must always be able to substantiate the expense. (Code Sec. 274 (k) and (n); Notice 2018-76)

Many specific requirements exist relative to business expenses; always seek the counsel of a qualified tax consultant for more detail. (§§910-919 and 1079 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS (“IRAs”) [§§2155 - 2179 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide]

The rules for traditional IRAs are complex. Individuals also have access to Roth IRAs and Education IRA’s. Always consult a tax professional relative to this subject-matter.

Generally, an individual who receives compensation (“earned income” in the case of a self-employed individual) that is includable in gross income may establish and make contributions to their own IRA. Compensation includes alimony, but does not include pensions, annuities or other forms of deferred compensation.

For tax year 2022, the maximum combined contribution to a traditional IRA and Roth IRA is $6,000 ($6,500 for 2023) [See: IRC §219(b)]. The age limit of 70½ was eliminated effective for contributions made for tax years beginning after 2019 (See: SECURE ACT of 2019, P.L. 116-94; IRS Notice 2020-68). Contributions to a traditional IRA may be deducted within certain limitations. Any individual who will be at least 50 years old by the end of tax year 2022 is able to make an additional maximum contribution of $1,000 to either a traditional or Roth IRA.

- “Traditional” IRA – IRA earnings are still tax-deferred for everyone until withdrawal. Distributions from a traditional IRA to a participant prior to reaching age 59½ are generally subject to a 10% penalty similar to such a requirement within qualified plans (e.g., 401(k)’s, 403(b)’s, or 457’s). A “Required Minimum Distribution” (RMD) to a traditional IRA owner must start no later than April 1st following the calendar year in which the owner reaches age 72 (NEW! Age 73 beginning 1/1/23; increases to age 75 by 2033) [See: “Secure 2.0 Act of 2022”]. Finally, there are several penalty-free withdrawals allowed, for example: first-time home buyers, qualified higher education expenses, and unemployed individuals who pay medical premiums.

- Roth IRA - an alternative to the traditional IRA. Instead of the contributions being deductible, the tax advantages will be “back-loaded,” that is, the buildup of interest, dividends and appreciation within this type of IRA may be tax-free depending on how and when the taxpayer withdraws money from the account. Tax-free withdrawals typically will not be allowed within the five-taxable-year period beginning with the first taxable year for which a contribution was made. A Roth IRA must be designated as such when it is first established.

Funds from a Roth IRA may be distributed tax-free if the individual has owned the IRA for five years prior to the year of withdrawal and: (1) the individual attains age 59½; (2) it is to the beneficiary or estate, after the death of the individual; (3) it is on account of the individual’s becoming disabled; or (4) made for qualified first-time homebuyer expenses.

Contributions to Roth IRA’s are subject to income limitations. The maximum yearly contribution that can be made to a Roth IRA is phased out for single taxpayers with modified adjusted gross income during 2022 above $129,000 ($204,000 for married filing jointly). No contribution to a Roth IRA is allowed once the modified adjusted gross income exceeds $144,000 for the single taxpayer ($214,000 for married filing jointly).

Roth IRA contributions may be made even after the individual for whom the account is maintained has reached age 72. The traditional IRA rules requiring minimum distributions to persons over 72 and older do not apply. [See: “Secure 2.0 Act of 2022”]

- Coverdell Education Savings Account (CESA) (formerly: Education IRA) - designed to be used by those saving for a child’s (under age 18, or any age if the adult child has special needs) future educational expenses. In general, contributions to CESA’s are treated as gifts to the beneficiaries, but distributions are excludable from gross income once a distribution for education expenses is made. Annual non-deductible contributions of up to $2,000 per year (excluding rollovers) per beneficiary may be made until the time the beneficiary turns age 18.

Withdrawals to pay qualified higher education expenses of the child (the designated account beneficiary) during the year are tax-free. For tax year 2022, the annual contribution is phased-out for joint filers with modified adjusted gross income at or above $190,000 and less than $220,000 (at or above $95,000 and less than $110,000 for single filers).

“Qualified education expenses” are those incurred within public or private (including religious-based) elementary, secondary, undergraduate, and graduate level education settings. Such expenses incorporate services in the case of a special needs beneficiary, which includes tutoring and expenses for room, board and/or transportation. Although the IRS has not released a formal definition of a “special needs beneficiary,” it may use something along the lines of the following: “an individual who because of a physical, mental or emotional condition (including a hearing disability) requires more time to complete his or her education.” Please consult IRS Publication 970 dated January 2023. The age limit mentioned earlier in this section does not apply to beneficiaries with special needs. Always consult a qualified tax professional for specific details on this topic. (§867 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) (IRS Publication 970)

★ Dependency of Students – Generally, an adult child, disabled or not, who is a full-time student and under the age of 24 at the end of the calendar year may be claimed as a “qualifying child” dependent. After age 24, this adult child may be considered a “qualifying relative” and a dependent if his/her gross earned income is less than the “exemption” amount ($4,400 for 2022) and the parent has furnished over half of that individual’s total support during the calendar year (§§137A, B, and 147 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide). An individual who is totally and permanently disabled (§1402 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) at any time during the year satisfies the age requirement regardless of his or her age. REMEMBER, no deductions may be claimed for personal and dependency exemptions in tax years 2018 through 2025.

★ Self-Employed Health Insurance Deduction – The self-employed may deduct 100% of amounts paid from gross income amounts paid for health insurance coverage for themselves, a spouse, and dependents (§908 – 2023 U. S. Master Tax Guide). The deduction is limited to the extent of the taxpayer's earned income from that business. For premiums paid through an insurance (“Marketplace”) exchange, a taxpayer may qualify for a “Premium Assistance Tax Credit,” which is calculated on IRS Form 8962. This credit is determined on a sliding scale depending on the size of the family and household income (§1431 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide). Children under the age of 27 will be considered dependents of a taxpayer for purposes of the deduction for the health insurance costs of a self-employed person, spouse, and dependents [IRC §162(L)(1)]. A child includes: a son, daughter, stepson, or stepdaughter of the taxpayer; a foster child placed with the taxpayer by an authorized placement agency or by judgment, decree, or other order of any court or competent jurisdiction; and a legally adopted child of the taxpayer or a child who has been lawfully placed with the taxpayer for legal adoption [IRC §152(f)(1)].

★ Domestic Employees (“Nanny Tax”) – The cash wage threshold for reporting and paying Social Security taxes (i.e., F.I.C.A.) for domestic workers, (e.g., babysitters, housekeepers, gardeners) during 2022 is $2,400 ($2,600 for 2023) a year. Employers must report Social Security and federal unemployment tax obligations on their federal income tax forms (1040) using Schedule H. (§2650 and 2652 – 2023 U. S. Master Tax Guide)

The general wage threshold for reporting and paying Michigan and federal unemployment taxes on a quarterly basis is $1,500 in a calendar quarter during 2022 or preceding year, except if the total wages are paid to household employees (i.e., “domestic labor”). That wage threshold then becomes $1,000 per calendar quarter in the current or preceding year where state and federal unemployment taxes are due on all wages. (§2649 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Beware! This section may also apply to families receiving respite care dollars (or other such payments termed “vouchers”) either directly from a county Community Mental Health Agency/Authority (“CMHA”) or through a contracted services entity. If the entity pays funds directly to a parent, who in turn pays a respite provider, the threshold of $1,000 may be exceeded not only by the CMHA stipend, but also by any additional amount supplemented by a parent.

★ State, Local and Property Taxes – Annual itemized deductions for all non-business state and local taxes, including property taxes, are limited to $10,000 ($5,000 for married taxpayer filing a separate return). Sales taxes may be included as an alternative to claiming state and local income taxes. (§1023 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Mortgage Interest and Home Equity Loans – A mortgage interest deduction is limited to $750,000 of the acquisition indebtedness ($375,000 for married filing separately) taken after 12/15/17 but before 1/1/26. On such debt incurred before 12/15/17, the numbers remain at $1,000,000 married and $500,000 married filing separately. A deduction for mortgage interest on second homes is available, but within the lower caps. (§1047 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

No interest deduction will be allowed for interest on home equity indebtedness, except where the loan is used to buy, build or substantially improve the taxpayer's home that secures the loan. (See: IRS Notice 2018-32; February 21, 2018) (§1048 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

★ Who Must File an Individual Tax Return – A federal income tax return generally must be filed each tax year by a citizen or resident alien whose gross income equals or exceeds a threshold amount based on his or her filing status. For tax years 2018 through 2025, the basic filing threshold is the standard deduction amount for the year (e.g., for tax year 2022 the threshold amounts are: $12,950 single and $25,900 married joint). For those age 65 or older, add another $1,750 for single and $1,400 (one spouse) or $2,800 (two spouses) for married joint. (§101 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS

NEW! For tax year 2021, an eligible individual was able to claim a charitable deduction of up to $300 (for a joint return, $600) [See: IRC §170(p); and, P.L. 116-260, a.k.a., the “Taxpayer Certainty and Disaster Tax Relief Act of 2020”]. This deduction was claimed in calculating taxable income in 2021 (however, it was NOT extended for 2022!) and not as an “above-the-line” deduction in calculating Adjusted Gross Income that was permitted during 2020. REMEMBER, an individual taking this was never allowed to also elect to itemize deductions. (§1058 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) (See also: www.Investopedia.com article dated 12/7/2022: “Charitable Contribution Deduction: Rules and Changes for 2022”)

The “Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act of 2015” made permanent a long-standing provision that allows donors to make certain charitable gifts from a traditional IRA (or in certain circumstances a Roth IRA) without having to pay income tax on the distribution. To make a “Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD)” of an IRA to a non-profit organization and not incur income tax:

- the donor must be at least 70½ years of age;
- the QCD must be made directly from the IRA to the public charity (such as, The Arc);
- the amount distributed from the IRA cannot exceed $100,000 in any one year;
- the QCD cannot be claimed as a regular charitable deduction; and,
- the QCD must be made in 2022.

The charity must provide the donor with a specific and contemporaneous written acknowledgement of the gift. [IRC §408(d)(8)] (§§1058, 1070A, and 2165 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) (See also: Wolters Kluwer/CCHGroup “Tax Briefing” dated 12/18/15)

A. Deduction for Itemizers

Since the “standard deduction” was nearly doubled (See: Page 8) for tax years 2018 through 2025, the necessity for most individuals to itemize their deductions was essentially eliminated, except for some higher income taxpayers. Some are of the opinion that this change might negatively affect charitable organizations because some individuals might be less likely to contribute if their donation is not tax deductible. That jury is still out. Anecdotally, many people still donate to charitable causes despite not being able to itemize deductions.

Except for the tax year 2021 as described immediately above, the “$300 single / $600 joint” special charitable taxable income calculation deduction was not available to persons who itemized deductions and deducted charitable contributions. If a contribution is $250 or more, it must be substantiated by a contemporaneous written acknowledgment from the charitable organization. The taxpayer must obtain this written confirmation before filing the tax return. Generally, the acknowledgment must include the amount of cash and a description of non-cash contributions, together with a description and a good-faith estimate of the value of any goods or services received for the contributions.

The Pension Protection Act of 2006 changed the cash-contributions-to-charities substantiation rules. Deductions are not allowed for contributions of cash, checks or other monetary gifts, regardless of the amount, unless the donor maintains either: (1) a bank record (e.g., canceled check; financial institution or credit card statements), or (2) a receipt, letter, or other written communication from the charity, indicating the charity’s name, the contribution date and amount. [IRC §170(f)(17)] (Publication 526) (§1070A – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Contributions charged to a bank credit card are deductible in the year charged even though paid in a later year. Contributions made by payroll deduction may be substantiated with an employer-provided document, (e.g., a pay-stub or W-2) showing the amount deducted and a donee-prepared document stating that there were no goods or services provided, in whole or part, as consideration for such contributions. Substantiation is required only if $250 or more is deducted from a single paycheck. (§§1058-1071 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

B. Volunteer Activities

The value of services rendered to a charitable institution/organization is not deductible as a contribution. However, an out-of-pocket, unreimbursed expense, such as for transportation, travel, uniform, telephone, equipment, etc., incurred in rendering such a service is deductible as a contribution. This includes reasonable payments for necessary meals and lodging while away from home overnight donating services to a “qualified” charitable organization (The Arc Michigan is a qualified charitable organization and this section applies to volunteer advocates.)

The cost of travel on behalf of charitable organizations is deductible if there is no significant amount of personal pleasure, recreation or vacation involved.

In lieu of deducting the actual expenses incurred while using a vehicle for transportation, the IRS standard volunteer mileage rate is 14¢ per mile (for 2022 and for 2023). A taxpayer must use this rate when computing the cost of operating an automobile where this expense is deductible as a charitable contribution. Parking fees and tolls are also deductible, but depreciation and insurance are not. (IR Notice 2022-234) (§1061 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

C. Convention Delegates

Persons representing The Arc, their church, or an American Legion Post, for example, at a convention for that qualified charitable organization, may deduct as charitable contributions the unreimbursed costs of attending the convention. However, the mere fact a member of a particular church or charitable organization attends a convention "on his/her own" rather than as delegate, does not provide an entitlement to deduct expenses unless incurred while actually performing some service at the convention. [IRC §170]

D. Clothing and Household Items

A deduction for a donation of clothing and household items will be allowed only if the donated property is in good, used condition or better. “Household items” do not include food, paintings, and antiques, other objects of art, jewelry, gems or collections. The IRS can deny a deduction for donated property that is of minimal value. These restrictions do not apply if: (1) a deduction of more than $500 is claimed for the single clothing or household item; and (2) a qualified appraisal for that item is attached to the income tax return. (§1061 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

MEDICAL EXPENSE DEDUCTIONS

A. In General

Unless otherwise noted, information on most medical deductions may be found in the most current IRS Publication 502.

It is well-established that, under current tax law, taxpayers may include in computing their itemized medical expense deductions amounts paid on behalf of a dependent or a person who could be claimed as a dependent, unless that person had annual earned income of $4,400 or more. (§133 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Beginning with tax year 2020, all taxpayers are subject to a 7.5% [See: IRC §213, as amended by the “Taxpayer Certainty and Disaster Tax Relief Act of 2020” (P.L. 116-260); IRS Reg. §1.213-1] of AGI medical expense deduction floor. On joint returns, the percentage limitation is based on the total AGI of both spouses.

For premiums paid through an insurance (“Marketplace”) exchange, a taxpayer may qualify for a “Premium Assistance Tax Credit,” which is calculated on IRS Form 8962. This credit is determined on a sliding scale depending on the size of the family and household income (§§1015-1019, and 1431 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

B. Special Schools and Special Training for Children with Disabilities

As you consider this area of “medical expenses,” keep in mind that some deductions may be proper under the IRS rules, but may not necessarily conform to the receipt of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits or Medicaid due to income limits. (Refer also to page 19, part “O,” and page 27, “Amounts Expended by State ...”)

You may deduct as “medical expenses” the costs of:

1. A special school attended by your child if the principal purpose of the schooling is to alleviate his or her disability (including tuition, room and board as applicable); [IRC §213]; [Rev. Rul. 78-340]; (§1016 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)
2. Tests and evaluations at the special school;
3. Special instruction or training such as Braille, lip reading, speech instruction;
4. Tutoring fees paid on a doctor’s recommendation for your child’s tutoring by a teacher specially trained and qualified to work with children who have severe learning disabilities; and,
5. Other medical expenses that your student-child may require, even though the dependent child may have earned more than $4,400 in annual earned income.

C. Medicine, Drugs and Vitamins

A deduction for the cost of medicine and drugs (including insulin) is limited to those that may be obtained ONLY by prescription. Vitamins and other medicines or preparations that are normally purchased over-the-counter, notwithstanding a prescription from a doctor, are non-deductible. However, an over-the-counter medicine or drug qualifies for tax-free reimbursement through a flexible spending plan or a health reimbursement arrangement if a prescription is obtained. (Federal Tax Coord. 2d; K-2102) (§1016 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide).

D. Sheltered Workshop Cost

If you must pay out-of-pocket for your adult dependent child to attend a sheltered workshop (or, “special school”), you may deduct as a “medical expense” the cost of the workshop if the primary purpose of the program is to alleviate the disability. If the service of the workshop is designed to “alleviate” a disability, it will generally constitute “medical care” within the Internal Revenue Code. Usually, the service of teaching someone to perform a job is not considered “medical care.” However, services, which assist a person with an intellectual impairment toward the goal of achieving everyday community living skills, may be considered to “alleviate” the disability and therefore qualify as deductible “medical care.” This service is comparable to the service of teaching Braille to a child who is blind, thus alleviating the blindness, or teaching lip reading and sign language to a child with a hearing impairment, thereby alleviating the child’s inability to hear. (§1016 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

E. Transportation

Transportation costs are deductible as a “medical expense” if they are incurred going to and from the following locations:

1. Special schools (as defined by IRS);
2. Institutions and hospitals;
3. Special therapy programs that have been prescribed; or,
4. Pharmacies or drugstores.

Medical transportation costs for taxicabs or other public transportation modes must be verified with proof of all expenditures, such as receipts or canceled checks. The transportation costs to a parent accompanying a sick child to obtain medical care are also deductible. If a parent pays for the transportation costs of a nurse to attend a sick child --- that too is a deductible expense. If a child who attends a special school cannot travel alone, the cost of someone to accompany the child to the special school is deductible. A further deduction is available for persons with physical disabilities who utilize taxicabs to and from work where a physician, as part of a therapy program, recommended the employment.

The costs of transportation for all of the above by private car are considered a deductible “medical expense” and includes [IR Notice 2021-251; §1016 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide]:

1. The medical transportation mileage rate for 2022 is 18¢ per mile from January 1, 2022 through June 30, 2022, and 22¢ per mile from July 1, 2022 through December 31, 2022 [IR Announcement 2022-13]. This mileage rate remains at 22¢ for 2023 [IR 2022-234].
2. Parking fees; and
3. Tolls.

If your child with a disability lives away from home, transportation costs to visit your child may be deductible as a “medical expense” if medical experts deem your visit a necessary part of treatment. This applies only to transportation costs and not to meals and/or lodging. (Rev. Rul. 58-533; 1958-2 CB 108)

Away-from-home lodging expenses, such as for hospital stays, are deductible up to $50 per night, per person primarily for and essential to medical care provided by a physician in a licensed hospital, including a medical care facility related to or the equivalent of a licensed hospital. This expense is also available to certain eligible persons accompanying the person seeking medical care.

F. Cost of Special Equipment to Alleviate a Disability (Including Installation)

In the examples of elevators for heart patients, air conditioning for persons with asthma, ramps for persons who use wheelchairs, and the like, medical experts must deem the items necessary to alleviate the disabling condition. This deduction is allowed to the extent that it exceeds the improved value of your property [IRC §213]. Example #1: if air conditioning your home improves its value by $700 and the actual cost is $1,000; you are allowed to deduct the difference of $300. If the special equipment does not increase the value of the home, the entire cost is deductible. Example #2: The additional cost to modify a van for a wheelchair lift and raising the vehicle roof is deductible; depreciation of the van is not (Henderson v. Commissioner, T.C. Memo 2000-321). A 1987 ruling enumerates a listing of special equipment that qualifies for this type of deduction and it indicates which items will not be considered as increasing the value of property (Rev. Rul. 87-106).

G. Lifetime Care Payments

Non-refundable advance payments to a private institution for lifetime care, supervision, treatment, and training of your dependent with physical and intellectual disabilities in the event of your death, or other inability to care for your dependent, are deductible in the year paid, provided that the payments are required as a condition for the institution’s future acceptance of your dependent. (§1015 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

H. Aids for Persons with Visual Impairments

Costs of specific aids to assist in the education of a child becoming blind, such as an audio recorder, special typewriter, projection lamp for enlarging written material, and special lenses are deductible as medical expenses because the use of such things mitigates the condition of losing the sense of sight. (Rev. Rul. 58-223, 1958-1 CB 156)

I. Expenses for Patterning Exercises

Amounts paid to a non-professional for administering “patterning” exercises --- coordinated physical manipulation of limbs to stimulate normal movement in a child with an intellectual impairment --- qualifies as deductible medical care expense. (Rev. Rul. 70-170, 1970-1 CB 51)

J. Wages for Nursing Service

Payments of wages for an attendant who provides nursing services are deductible medical expenses. You may also include as medical expenses the out-of-pocket amounts paid for the attendant’s meals. Divide the total food expense among the household members to find the cost of the attendant’s food. If you must pay additional out-of-pocket amounts for household up-keep because of the attendant, include as a medical expense the extra amount you paid. This includes such items as extra rent you paid because you moved to a larger apartment to provide space for the attendant or extra cost of utilities for the attendant; if the attendant also provides personal and household services, you must further divide these amounts between the time spent on performing household and personal services.

K. Special Telephone

The repair cost of special telephone equipment that allows a person who is deaf to communicate over a regular telephone.

L. Close-Captioned TV

The extra cost of a specially-equipped television set and the cost of an adapter that provides sub-titles for a person who is deaf.

M. Removal of Lead-Based Paint

The cost of removing lead-based paints from walls and woodwork in a home to prevent a child who has lead poisoning or had lead poisoning from eating the paint is a deductible medical expense. The areas covered with lead-based paint must be in poor repair or be within the child's reach.

N. Disposable Diapers

Disposable diapers are deductible as a medical expense when verified by a physician as being necessary for a child or adult who is totally incontinent as the result of a neurological disease or brain damage. (IRS Letter Ruling 8137085)

O. Expenses Incurred for a Person with an Intellectual Impairment Residing in a Group Home or Other Community Setting

The out-of-pocket cost to a person or family of maintaining a person with an intellectual impairment in a specially selected home, to aid in the adjustment from institutional to community living, qualifies as a medical expense and is deductible (Rev. Rul. 69-499, 1967-2 CB 39). Please refer to page 16, part "B" of this tax guide for possible SSI and Medicaid considerations.

P. Special Food and Beverages

The IRS has held that the cost of special foods and beverages may qualify as a deductible medical expense if prescribed by a physician for alleviation or treatment of an illness and are in addition to the taxpayer's (or dependent's) normal diet. The special food or beverage must not be a part of the nutritional needs of the patient. But the Tax Court has allowed as a medical deduction the additional cost of special foods or beverages (e.g., Osmolite®, for persons requiring tube feeding) over the cost of a normal diet where prescribed by a physician for alleviation or treatment of an illness. [Randolph (1976) 67 TC 481; Cohn (1962) 38 TC 387 (NA); Rev. Rul. 76-80; Fed. Tax Coord. 2d, K-2138].

Q. Legal Fees

Legal fees and other related costs arising with respect to the commitment for treatment of an individual experiencing a mental health disability at an institution for special care are deductible as medical expenses (Rev. Rul. 71-281, 1971-2 CB 165; distinguished by Rev. Rul. 78-266). A taxpayer cannot include in medical expenses the fees for the management of a guardianship estate, fees for conducting the affairs of the person being treated, or other fees that are not necessary for medical care.

R. Medical Conferences Attended by Parent

Amounts paid by an individual for expenses of admission and transportation to a medical conference relating to the chronic disease of the individual's dependent is deductible as a medical expense; meals and lodging are not (Rev Rul. 2000-24).

S. Miscellaneous *

1. Dental care;
2. Eyeglasses, contacts, examinations;
3. Hearing aid; examination, batteries;
4. Wheelchair, braces or other adaptive equipment;
5. Birth control pills;
6. Psychologist fees.

Again, for a complete listing of available medical deductions, please consult the current edition of IRS Publication 502.*

NON-TAXABILITY OF SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI)

SSI is not taxable for the person receiving the benefit. If the SSI recipient in Michigan is receiving combined federal and state benefits at the Sharing/Independent level (a total of $855.00 for 2022; $914.00 for 2023) and is paying his/her "pro-rata share" of the household expenses, then that share is not taxable income to the householder who receives the money. This is true whether the householder is a parent or other relative or an unrelated person. The share is not taxable income because it is merely a reimbursement to the householder for that portion of expenses attributed to the SSI recipient. This situation may be more easily understood by likening it to the situation where four college students share an apartment. Each student is responsible for one-fourth of the household's expenses and no one's individual share is considered as income to anyone else.

In a different set of circumstances, if the SSI recipient is paying either "rent" or "room and board" to his/her parents (or anyone else for that matter), then those "rent" or "room" payments (minus expenses incurred) are considered income to the parent (or another landlord).

CAN SSI RECIPIENTS BE CLAIMED AS A DEPENDENT?

All SSI recipients in Michigan who receive federal plus state benefits at either the Sharing/Independent level (a total of $855.00 for 2022; $914.00 for 2023) or Personal Care (adult foster care home or group home) level ($998.50 for 2022; $1,071.50 for 2023) cannot be claimed as a dependent for income tax purposes. This is because a person on SSI at a rate other than the Household of Another level (a total of $570.00 for 2022; $618.67 for 2023) is by SSI regulations defined as someone who is not someone else's dependent. If the SSI recipient is claimed as a dependent according to the I.R.S. regulations, then the SSI program will consider such support against the SSI recipient and only the Household of Another level of benefits will be paid.

An adult SSI recipient who receives the combined federal and state benefits at the Household of Another level ($570.00 for 2022; $618.67 for 2023) may be claimed as a dependent by a person who can show that they provided more than half the SSI recipient's support. In figuring total support, the SSI income must be counted. If the yearly total of SSI received is less than the amount of support provided by a parent or another person, the SSI recipient may be claimed as a dependent if all other dependency requirements are met.

SPECIAL NOTE: Michigan provides a monthly state SSI supplement for both the Household of Another and the Sharing/Independent rates. Although recipients of SSI in Michigan, during 2023, will receive a check or a direct deposit from the federal government (either $609.34 – Household of Another, or $914.00 – Sharing/Independent) on the first of every month, the State of Michigan sends its monthly supplement amount (either $9.33 – Household of Another, or $14.00 – Sharing/Independent) on a quarterly basis included within one state check, or via direct deposit, on or about March 10th, June 10th, September 10th and December 10th.

Individual recipients in Michigan who only qualify for a “state supplement” amount of SSI each month (due to the receipt of other income like Social Security disability benefits, and/or some work earnings) must forego not only this money, but they are required to go through a local Michigan Department of Health and Human Services office (or, on-line) and annually re-apply for Medicaid benefits.

TAXABILITY OF SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

Social Security benefits have the possibility of becoming taxable income. This applies to benefits [not Supplemental Security Income (“SSI”)] received by retired persons, disabled workers, disabled adult children, survivors of deceased workers, or spouses of beneficiaries. In specific terms, up to 50% of Social Security benefits could become taxable if combined with other income, such as bank interest, annuities, private pensions, wages, et cetera, and the total is more than an adjusted base amount ($25,000 single; $32,000 married filing jointly).

A married couple whose “combined income” is more than $44,000 and single persons with income over $34,000 will pay income tax on up to 85% of their Social Security benefits.

The “combined income” mentioned above is an individual's or married couple's adjusted gross income as reported on either IRS Form 1040 or 1040-SR, plus one-half (50%) of the total Social Security benefits received for the year, plus non-taxable interest.

For beneficiaries whose income is below either the $25,000 or $32,000 levels during 2022, Social Security benefits are not taxed. (§716 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

This provision will not affect persons receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits or those receiving both SSI and Social Security checks, since substantial outside income will terminate eligibility for SSI benefits long before income levels became taxable (IRS Notice 703, August 1984).

Recipients of Social Security benefits will receive a yearly statement showing the sum of all benefits received during the year. This statement may then be used when figuring taxable income on the worksheet the Social Security Administration will enclose with its mailing.

Any questions should be directed to a qualified tax advisor.

PAYMENTS FROM THE MICHIGAN D.H.H.S.

A. GA, ADC, ENP, SNAP

Someone who experiences a disability may be receiving payments via what is known as a “Bridge Card” from Michigan’s “Department of Health and Human Services” (DHHS) under General Assistance (GA), Aid to Dependent Children (ADC), Emergency Needs Program (ENP), or the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program [(SNAP); a.k.a., “food stamps”], among others. NONE of these payments are considered taxable (gross) income to the person with a disability, even if the checks come to a parent or other person as payee on behalf of the person with a disability.

The federal government will consider these payments as OUTSIDE SUPPORT for purposes of determining whether parents or another person can claim the person with a disability as a dependent. As with SSI, if a parent or anyone else provides more financial support than the yearly total of any DHHS payment(s) and all other dependency tests are met, then the parent or other person may claim the DHHS payment recipient as a dependent.

B. Independent Living Services Program (Formerly, “Adult Home Help” or “Chore”)

NOTE: AHHS payments are not considered taxable income for live-in parent-caregiver providers of such services. The IRS changed its position at the beginning of 2014.

Independent Living Services Program (“ILSP”) or Adult Home Help Services (“AHHS”) payments are provided through the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (“DHHS”) to persons who deliver unskilled and non-specialized service or personal care activities essential to a person with a disabling condition who cannot perform such things without assistance. The goal of the AHHS program is to maintain the person with the disability in his/her natural home instead of in a costlier alternative residential care arrangement.

These “personal care services” are defined by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) as: assistance with eating, bathing, dressing, toileting, transferring, maintaining continence, personal hygiene, light housework, laundry, meal preparation, transportation, grocery shopping, using the telephone, medication management, and money management. Most of these personal care services are also found in the listing of “chores” under Michigan’s AHHS rules contained within the DHHS “Adult Services Manual” at §101.

The local area Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) policy-position until tax year 1990 was that parents could exclude AHHS payments from their gross income each year. However, that stance was eventually reversed by the IRS national office because of a contrary decision from the U.S. Tax Court. In Bannon v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 99 T.C. No. 3, Docket No. 26900-90 (July 20, 1992), Dorothy Bannon lost her bid to have AHHS payments declared non-taxable income to a parent or relative caregiver. The Tax Court held that under California law, Ms. Bannon’s daughter was a welfare recipient under that state’s version of AHHS and was “... intended to be the ultimate beneficiary ...” of the welfare payments. The parent in this case was employed by her daughter to provide supportive services. Therefore, the AHHS payments were includable in the parent’s income for federal income tax purposes.

On January 3, 2014, the IRS issued its “Notice 2014-7” addressing the income tax treatment of certain payments to an individual care provider under a state Home and Community-Based Waiver (“Medicaid Waiver”) program. The notice provides that the IRS will treat “qualified Medicaid Waiver payments” as “difficulty-of-care” payments excludable from gross income under §131 of the Internal Revenue Code. (See also: §883 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide) Accordingly, the IRS stated that it will no longer assert the position of its own “Program Manager Technical Advice” memorandum (PMTA 2010-007) where it held that “a biological parent of a disabled child may not exclude payments under §131 because the ordinary meaning of foster care excludes care by a biological parent.” For purposes of IRS Notice 2014-7, qualified Medicaid Waiver payments are those issued by a state, a political subdivision of a state, or a certified Medicaid provider under a Medicaid Waiver program to an individual care provider for non-medical support services provided under a plan of care to an individual (whether related or unrelated) living in the individual care provider’s home. (See: IRS FAQ’s at: <https://www.irs.gov/individuals/certain-medicaid-waiver-payments-may-be-excludable-from-income>)

IMPORTANT NOTE: Although the IRS Notice 2014-7 primarily involves the Medicaid Waiver program, it also clearly states that the IRS would no longer apply §131 to the 1992 Bannon case decision, which dealt exclusively with the income taxability of AHHS payments.

The following is how a parent (or other) live-in caregiver must account on their federal IRS Form 1040 (See: IRS 1040, 2022 Instructions, at page 86; or IRS Pub. 525 at page 2) for the funds from the Michigan W-2 that is received each year from the DHHS for AHHS payments:

- On IRS Form 1040 line 1 (“Wages, salaries, tips, etc.”), enter the W-2 amount;
- On IRS Schedule 1, line 8(s) (“Additional Income”) write on the dotted line: “Notice 2014-7” --- then enter the W-2 amount with a minus (“ - ”) sign in front of it.

If you received such payments (including AHHS) described in IRS Notice 2014-7 in an earlier year, you may file an amended return via IRS Form 1040X to exclude the payments from gross income. Generally, for a credit or refund, you must file an amended return within 3 years (including extensions) [4 years for Michigan returns] after the date you filed your original return or within 2 years after the date you paid the tax, whichever is later. (See: IRS 1040x Instruction booklet; IRC §6511; and, <https://www.irs.gov/individuals/certain-medicaid-waiver-payments-may-be-excludable-from-income>)

IRS Notice 2014-7 does not address whether qualified Medicaid Waiver (and/or AHHS) payments excluded from income under this IRS Notice may be subject to tax under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) or the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA) in certain circumstances. There appears to be an arguable position about whether a parent who is the provider/caregiver must pay the FICA at all. In the Federal Tax Advisor; Section 58,655; 1992, Commerce Clearing House, Inc., it states:

“... services performed by a parent for a child generally are covered employment for FICA purposes and are subject to withholding. However, an exception is provided for domestic services performed by a parent. That is, in most cases, a parent performing services of a household nature in the private home of a son or daughter will not be engaged in covered employment under FICA and will be exempt from withholding.”

On a related area, the same section of the Federal Tax Advisor goes on to state:

“... services performed by an individual for a son, daughter, husband or wife, and services performed by a child under the age of 21 in the employ of a parent, are specifically excluded from the statutory definition of “employment” under FUTA [("Federal Unemployment Tax Act")].”

The FICA and FUTA issues are rather complex and the taxpayer is strongly advised to seek professional assistance for individual situations.

Finally, it is important to keep in mind that AHHS payments remain income taxable to third-party caregivers, that is, those who live elsewhere but provide these chore services at the home of the individual with special needs.

FAMILY SUPPORT SUBSIDY (Michigan)

Since 1984, Michigan has had a Family Support Subsidy program that provides monthly payments to qualified families. These are families that have a member who is a special education student with the educational label of either a Cognitive Impairment – Severe (CI-S), Severe Multiple Impairment (SXI) or Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and have a taxable income of less than $60,000 on their state of Michigan tax return. Please also note that children with ASD must be receiving special education services in a program that qualifies under the Family Support Subsidy law.

Family Support Subsidy payments ($300.36 per month; eff. 10/1/2022) are not counted as income for any programs administered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (GA, ADC, ENP, SNAP, etc.), the federal SSI Program, or Michigan Children’s Special Health Care Services. Family Support Subsidy payments are also considered non-taxable to parents for both federal and Michigan state income tax purposes. This non-taxability situation results from the payments being considered as those made by a governmental unit. (Michigan Mental Health Code, §R330.1611)

Note: During the 2022 Michigan legislative year, no bill was introduced that would expand coverage beyond those children having the special educational labels of Cognitive Impairment – Severe (CI-S), Severe Multiple Impairment (SXI), or Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD).

DISABILITY-RELATED TAX CREDITS

Child and Disabled Dependent Care Credit - If you are among the millions of parents who must pay someone to care for your child or disabled dependent while you earn a living; you may use those same expenses to help reduce your personal income tax liability. This credit was made permanent by the “American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012.”

Child and disabled dependent care expenses are handled as a tax credit, instead of a deduction, enabling you to reduce your tax liability by the amount of credit you have coming.

No credit is allowed unless you supply identifying information concerning the service provider on Form 2441. This credit must be claimed by using Form 1040. If you cannot obtain this information, then attach a statement to the form describing your good faith efforts to do so. The IRS will probably allow the credit.

To be eligible for the credit, the taxpayer must maintain a household for one of the following individuals:

1. A dependent under age 13 for whom a dependent exemption may be claimed;
2. Any other dependent that is physically or mentally incapable of self-care. The taxpayer must be able to claim either (a) the person as a dependent, or (b) the person as a dependent except for the fact that the person had income exceeding the exemption amount; or
3. The taxpayer's spouse if he or she is physically or mentally incapable of self-care.

The Working Families Tax Relief Act of 2004 changed the relationship, support and residence requirements for a qualifying child and a dependent (See: Page 9). The residency and/or disabled individuals and spouse's incapable of self-care rules, now only require that they have the same principal place of abode as the taxpayer for more than half of the taxable year.

Qualifying expenses include expenses paid for household services and for the care of a qualifying individual. Services outside the home qualify if concerning the care of a child under age 13 or a disabled spouse or dependent that regularly spends at least 8 hours a day in the taxpayer's home.

The credit is equal to 35% of employment-related expenses for taxpayers with adjusted gross income (AGI) of not more than $15,000 and is 20% for taxpayers with AGI of more than $43,000. For taxpayers between these two amounts, the credit is reduced one percentage point for each $2,000 or fraction thereof of adjusted gross income in excess of $15,000. The maximum amount of employment-related expenses to which the credit can be applied is $3,000 if one qualifying child or dependent is involved and $6,000 if more than one is involved.

A married taxpayer generally must file a joint return to claim the credit. For married taxpayers, expenses are limited to the earned income of the spouse earning the lesser amount. Income limitations affect the percentage and amount of credit allowed. Usually, if one spouse is not working, no credit is allowed. If the non-working spouse is physically or mentally incapable of self-care or is a full-time student for at least five months during the year, then the law will assume an earned income --- for each month of being disabled or going to school --- of $250 per month if there is one qualifying child or dependent or of $500 per month if there are two or more qualifying individuals. (§1401 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Work Opportunity Tax Credit – Originally a part of the Small Business and Work Opportunity Tax Act of 2007 (P.L. 110-28), this important law may be elected by employers who hire hard-to-employ individuals from within certain targeted groups (for example, those with a disability). It is based on first-year wages paid to these eligible workers. The credit was expanded in 2007 to include hiring disabled veterans and individuals living in counties experiencing population losses.

The “Taxpayer Certainty and Disaster Tax Relief Act of 2020” (P.L. 116-260) amended the IRC at §51 and extended this credit through December 31, 2025.

The deduction for such wages must be reduced by the amount of the credit and is computed on Form 5884 (“Work Opportunity Credit”). It is a general business credit. No credit is allowed for wages paid to an individual for services rendered at the employer’s plant or facility that is substantially similar to services performed by employees who are participants in a strike or who are affected by a lockout.

The credit is 40% of the first $6,000 ($3,000 for qualified summer youth employees) of wages paid to a “targeted group” member during the first year of employment and 25% in the case of wages attributable to individuals meeting only minimum employment levels. Included among the “targeted groups:” ... a “vocational rehabilitation referral;” a “qualified food stamp recipient;” or a “qualified SSI recipient.”

The minimum employment period that must be completed by an employee is 120 hours of work. The hour-of-service test is the only measurement for a minimum employment period for Work Opportunity Tax Credit purposes. If the 120-hour test is met, an employer is entitled to a credit of 25% if the employee performs less than 400 hours of service. For 400 or more hours of service, the percentage is 40% of the employee’s wages. (§1465G – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Disabled Access Credit - An eligible small business is entitled to this non-refundable tax credit for costs incurred to make a business accessible to disabled individuals. The credit amount is 50% of the amount of eligible access expenditures for a year that exceed $250 but that do not exceed $10,250. The credit is computed on Form 8826. (§1465M – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Low-Income Housing Credit - A non-refundable income tax credit is available on a per-unit basis for low-income units in qualified low-income buildings of qualified low-income housing projects. Calculate the credit on Form 8586 and claim it as a part of the general business credit. An owner must utilize an enforceable 30-year low-income use agreement with the appropriate housing agency. Credits are allowed to both profit and non-profit ventures. [IRC §42] (§1465K – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide).

Please note that the IRS continues to postpone or suspend several compliance due dates for the low-income housing credit in response to the COVID-19 pandemic [IR Notice 2022-52].

Credit for Persons Who Are Elderly or Who Are Permanently Disabled - A 15% tax credit that applies to persons who are either 65 years of age or older, or who are under age 65, retired on disability, and were totally and permanently disabled when they retired. An individual is considered permanently and totally disabled for tax credit purposes if he is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment that can be expected to result in death or to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months. The credit is computed on Schedule R (Form 1040). [IRC §22] (§1402 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

DEPENDENCY AND SHELTERED WORKSHOP SCHOOL INCOME

Income derived at a sheltered workshop school by an individual who is permanently and totally disabled is to be disregarded in determining that individual's status as a dependent.

No dependency claim is available for a student who has attained age 24 at the close of the calendar year unless the student's gross income for the year is less than the exemption amount ($4,400 for 2022; $4,700 for 2023). (§§133, and 137A and B – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

Your individual tax advisor can assist you if there are any questions regarding what is a qualifying "sheltered workshop school" or "student." Also, please note that SSI and Medicaid rules may differ from those of the IRS when earned income is involved.

DEDUCTION FOR “IMPAIRMENT RELATED WORK EXPENSES”

Expenses of an individual with a disability for attendant care services at his place of employment, other expenses in connection with his place of employment that are necessary for the individual to be able to work, and all ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the tax year in carrying on any business, are not subject to the two-percent (2%) floor that applies to miscellaneous itemized deductions. Persons with a disability include any individuals who have a physical or mental disability (including blindness or deafness) that limits employment or who have any physical or intellectual impairment (including sight or hearing impairments) that substantially limits one or more major life activities. [IRC §67(d); IRS Publication 529] (§§1079 and 1095 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

AMOUNTS EXPENDED BY STATE FOR TRAINING, EDUCATION, ROOM AND BOARD ARE NOT “SUPPORT” – DEPENDENCY CLAIM IS AVAILABLE

- REV. RUL. 59-379
- REV. RUL. 60-190 (modified by Rev. Rul. 61-186)
- REV. RUL. 71-347
- §147 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide

While contemplating the following, please note that IRS rules differ from those of the SSI and Medicaid Program. The level of SSI benefits may determine one's status as a dependent. (See: Page 20)

For persons with an intellectual impairment residing in an institution where education and/or training is being provided to the individual, the amount furnished by the state for room and board and education is considered a “scholarship” and excluded from the computation of support for that individual. However, parents who may be paying for incidentals (clothing, toiletries, education, medical and dental care, gifts, transportation, church contributions and entertainment and recreation) may still claim their child as a dependent, allowing a deduction, if more than one-half of the year's total support for that dependent child was paid by the taxpayer.

The current ruling on the support test to claim someone as a dependent who is also a person with an intellectual impairment extends an earlier ruling that held that the cost of room and board for a dependent who resides in an institution for persons with an intellectual impairment may be considered a scholarship grant that will not be taken into account in determining whether the parents have provided more than one-half of his/her support. The extension no longer limits such care to state institutions and includes all who are persons with an intellectual impairment regardless of age.

The actual ruling reads as follows: “Revenue Ruling 64-221, DB 1964-2, 46 amplifies the earlier ruling (61-186-CB 1961-2, 30) which refers to the status as ‘students’ under section 151(e)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, of handicapped children who are placed for purposes of education and training in a state institution which specializes in the care, treatment, education and training free of charge, of minor children who are severely handicapped both physically and mentally. However, the principles therefore are not necessarily restricted to state institutions.”

“Therefore, where any institution for persons with mental retardation or division thereof, which qualified as an educational institution under section 151(e)(4) of the Code, accepts any individuals for purposes of education and training and certifies that it is making an effort to educate or train him/her to use his/her faculties to the extent that he/she is physically or mentally able to do so, the individual will qualify as a student under section 151(e)(4) of the Code - regardless of age, the education or training received or the extent of his disability. If such certification is made, the amounts expended by the institution for room and board and tuition of the individual will be taken into account in determining whether such an individual received more than one-half of his support from his parents or step-parents for the purpose of determining exemption for dependents for Federal income tax purposes.”

NOTE #1: Remember, no deductions may be claimed for personal and dependency exemptions in tax years 2018 through 2025.

NOTE #2: Consult with your tax advisor to determine whether specific institutions in your state qualify for the dependency exemption explained above. Keep in mind that there may also be negative implications relative to Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and/or Medicaid eligibility should this exemption be used.

WORKING SSI/SSDI RECIPIENTS: TO FILE OR NOT TO FILE?

As more persons receiving SSI/SSDI benefits engage in gainful work activity, families should determine whether a federal income tax return must (or, may) be filed. Refer to the exemption amount and standard deductions portions of the Tax Change Highlights to help determine if the federal return MUST be filed. If a federal filing were not required, it would be desirable only if the worker would be due a refund of any federal tax withheld from 2022 wages, or a child tax credit refund.

Even if a federal tax filing is not done, families should consider filing State of Michigan tax returns if there is the likelihood of a refund due because of a Homestead Property Tax Credit or Home Heating Credit (each is potentially available to renters as well). Consult your tax advisor to assure that your family and any member who is a (working) recipient of SSI or Social Security benefits are receiving all the credits to which you/they may be entitled.

FOSTER CARE PROVIDERS

Foster parents can exclude from income qualified reimbursements of their expenses for caring for foster children under the age of 19 who are placed in their home by a government agency, a tax-exempt child placement agency, or a placement agency that is licensed or certified by a state to make foster care payments. They can also exclude “difficulty-of-care” payments paid to care for children with disabilities, up to a maximum amount of payments for ten (10) children. Foster parents do not have to keep records of all expenses for each child.

An exclusion from income for foster care payments (including difficulty-of-care payments) includes payments for foster care individuals age 18 and over. These individuals must have been placed in the foster care provider’s home by a government agency. The exclusion applies only to payments (including difficulty-of-care payments) for up to five individuals age 18 or older.

A key provision of the “Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002” (P.L. 107-147) expanded the exclusion beyond only a state agency or a tax-exempt child placement agency making such payments to also include payments made by a placement agency that is licensed or certified by a state to make foster care payments.

In summary, most foster care providers, for children and/or adults, can exclude from their income the foster care payments that they receive (including difficulty-of-care payments) with the above-stated limitations and with no record-keeping of expenses. This DOES NOT apply to corporation-operated group homes.

PROPERTY TAX CREDIT - MICHIGAN

Persons living in rental situations, including residents of Adult Foster Care Homes, are eligible to file for Michigan’s refundable Homestead Property Tax Credit based on the portion of property taxes they pay in their rental (or AFC) payment. Instructions for filing are in Michigan’s 2022 Income Tax Return and the Homestead Property Tax Credit Claim booklets, which is available on-line at www.michigan.gov/taxes. It contains specific reference to Adult Foster Care residents.

ADOPTION SUBSIDY & EXPENSES CREDIT

The State of Michigan has an "adoption subsidy" program that pays for many “non-recurring” adoption expenses in connection with adopting a child with special needs. Also, the state provides a non-taxable monthly financial stipend to adoptive families, along with limited medical coverage for qualifying children.

Michigan in the past offered a refundable “Qualified Adoption Expenses Credit,” spanning tax years 2001 through 2011, for excess adoption expenses. This credit is no longer available to Michigan taxpayers.

On 2022 federal returns, qualified adoption expenses and fees (including those of an attorney) may be claimed as a non-refundable “tax credit” (not a “tax deduction”). The maximum credit is $14,890 for 2022, and the phase-out range begins for taxpayers with a modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) of $223,410 for 2022, with no credit allowed for taxpayers with a MAGI over $263,410 for 2022. If the child is one with special needs, the full amount of the tax credit is allowed regardless of actual expenses paid or incurred in the year the adoption became final.

Employers may offer a fringe benefit for payment of qualified adoption expenses. The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 extended permanently the Bush-era enhancements to the adoption credit and the income exclusion for employer-paid or reimbursed adoption expenses up to $14,890 for 2022 --- identical to the maximum credit listed above; and is indexed for inflation --- both for non-special needs adoptions and special needs adoptions. However, any expenses incurred in excess of the amount provided under an employer's adoption assistance program may be used to claim the adoption credit.

An eligible child is an individual not yet 18 years of age as of the time of the adoption or who is physically or mentally incapable of providing self-care. To qualify as a child with special needs, the child must be a citizen or resident of the United States.

(Rev. Proc. 2018-57) (§1407 – 2023 U.S. Master Tax Guide)

ACHIEVING a BETTER LIFE EXPERIENCE ACT (“ABLE ACT”)

The ABLE Act arose out of the federal “Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014.” It creates tax-favored savings accounts for individuals with disabilities for tax years beginning after December 31, 2014. The ABLE Act authorizes states to create an ABLE Act program (similar to the Internal Revenue Code §529 college savings programs). (See: IRC §529A)

Qualified distributions include amounts used to cover medical expenses as well as costs of education, transportation, housing, employment support, health and wellness, training, assistive technology, personal support, and much more. Another key component of the ABLE Act provisions is that the placing of funds into such an account would not disqualify the individual with a disability from most state or federal aid, for example, Medicaid or SSI. Distributions used for non-qualified expenses would be subject to income tax on the portion of the distributions attributable to earnings from the account, plus a 10% penalty.

Individuals with disabilities are limited to only one ABLE Act account and the total annual contributions by all individuals to any one ABLE Act account was $16,000 for calendar year 2022 (this amount reflects the federal Gift Tax Exclusion, which is set at $17,000 for 2023). Further, such an account is capped at $100,000 according to the federal SSI guidelines. If SSI is not an issue, a person may save up to $500,000 under Michigan law before losing eligibility for Medicaid; other states rules may vary.

The Michigan ABLE Act was signed into law on October 28, 2015, made effective January 26, 2016, and became fully operational on November 1, 2016. It created this savings program under the authority of Internal Revenue Code Section 529A, which is aimed at encouraging and assisting individuals and families to save private funds to support individuals with disabilities. A deduction may be taken on the Michigan income tax return (Schedule 1, line 17) for contributions made to an ABLE account to the extent included in Adjusted Gross Income (AGI). The maximum deduction is $5,000 for a single filer ($10,000 for a jointly filed return). The amount deducted includes total contributions made to the plan less qualified withdrawals made during the tax year. Distributions from the account must be used to pay for qualified disability expenses of the eligible designated beneficiary of the account. The program is administered by the Michigan Department of Treasury and is similar to that office's administration of higher education savings accounts (“529 Plans”). For detailed information, the website link for ABLE plans in Michigan is: www.savewithable.com/mi.

An ABLÉ Act beneficiary who earns income from a job may save up to the Federal Poverty Level, which was $13,590 for 2022), in addition to their annual contribution limit of $16,000 (for 2022; $17,000 for 2023). Be aware that although such earnings may enhance annual ABLÉ Act account contributions, it may negatively affect receipt of SSI due to higher monthly earned income.

An ABLÉ Act beneficiary may now receive a rollover from a traditional §529 (“Qualified Tuition Plan”) into a §529A account, but still must adhere to the annual contribution limit of $16,000 (for 2022; $17,000 for 2023). This allows individuals who may have been saving for their child’s college tuition, which is now no longer needed, to roll-over up to the maximum contribution each year until the §529 account has been depleted.

APPEAL RIGHTS

From time-to-time some taxpayers are selected for auditing. During an audit, the IRS examiner may propose certain changes to the return(s) as filed. If you don’t agree with the proposed changes of the examining officer and the examination was made in an Internal Revenue Service office, you may request an immediate conference with a supervisor and explain your position.

Except in an unusual circumstance, such a conference will be granted. If an agreement is reached at this conference, your case will be closed. If agreement is not reached at this conference, or if the unagreed examination was made outside of an Internal Revenue office, you will receive: (1) copy of the examination report explaining proposed adjustments, and (2) a transmittal letter detailing the further appeals available to you and giving you 30 days to respond. The “Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988”, the “1996 Taxpayer Bill of Rights 2” (P.L. 104-168), the IRS Restructuring and Reform Act of 1998 (P.L. 105-206), and the Taxpayer First Act of 2019 (P.L. 116-25) provide many safeguards against I.R.S. abuses of tax collection procedures.

See your tax advisor for details.

APPEAL WITHIN THE SERVICE

The Internal Revenue Service now has a single appeal level. Your appeal from the findings of the examiner is to the Appeals Office in the region. Conferences are conducted as informally as possible.

If you want an appeal conference, address your request to your district director in accordance with the transmittal letter sent to you by the Internal Revenue Service in the transmittal letter concerning your tax case.

You may represent yourself at an appeals conference. You may also engage an attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service to represent your interests.

LETTER RULINGS

If your particular tax situation is unique or a “close call,” it may be advantageous to secure the opinion of the Internal Revenue Services (IRS). This may be done by mail. Your tax professional will have detailed procedures, but the regular U.S. mail address for obtaining such “Letter Rulings” is as follows:

Internal Revenue Service
Ruling Request Submission
ATTN: CC:PA:LPD:TSS
P.O. Box 7604
Ben Franklin Station
Washington, D.C. 20044

If you use a private delivery service (e.g., FEDEX or UPS), the address is as follows:

Internal Revenue Service
Ruling Request Submission
ATTN: CC:PA:LPD:TSS, Room #5336
1111 Constitution Ave., NW
Washington, D.C. 20224

There is a “user” fee that must be paid to IRS when submitting a Letter Ruling Request. A taxpayer may submit a user fee request for a standard fee of $12,600 made after 2/3/2023.

This fee is reduced to $3,000 if submitted after 2/3/2023 for individuals, trusts and estates that report less than $250,000 of income on a federal tax return (as amended) for the last tax year ending before the date the Letter Ruling request is filed.

For those taxpayers reporting more than $250,000 but less than $1,000,000 of income, the fee is $8,500 if submitted after 2/3/2023.

[Please refer to: IRB/Rev. Proc. 2023-1, at Appendix (A)(3)(c), and (A)(4)(a) and (b)]

ADDITIONAL TAXPAYER PROTECTIONS

As a result of the Internal Revenue Service Restructuring and Reform Act of 1998 (P.L. 105-206), taxpayers have additional protections and rights. Examples include: (1) a re-organization of the IRS into units serving groups of taxpayers with similar needs rather than by geographic region; (2) appointment of a “National Taxpayer Advocate” who reports directly to the Commissioner of the IRS, and who directs independent Local Advocates; (3) possible civil damages up to $100,000 if an IRS employee negligently disregards the Tax Code or regulations; (4) notice and right-to-hearing requirements when the IRS files property liens; and (5) the statute of limitations on refund claims may be tolled during any period in which financially disabled taxpayers with determinable medical or physical impairments are unable to manage their financial affairs due to such impairments.
